How did you get your start in this profession? I grew up watching my father working in the clinic, and was always interested in working with my hands and clients. When he opened a second clinic in Sidney, I asked if I could try my hand at being a lab assistant, for him and Ken Blunt. After one year, I entered the Denturist Program in Vancouver, which I graduated from in 2007.

We celebrate Father’s Day in June. What is the best advice your dad ever gave you? He taught me early on that honesty, hard work and education is essential to achieve your goals. He also stressed how important it is to constantly be open to new ideas, and that in life there is always something new to learn. Knowledge is a lifelong journey.

What is your business best known for and why? I believe customer service and quality product is what makes our business special: we pride ourselves on not only meeting the clients’ expectations but exceeding them. We have a fully qualified Denturist, on site, at both locations, Monday to Friday and Saturday by appointment, and can be reached by an emergency phone number anytime, priding ourselves on being there for our clients.

Three words others would use to describe you? Three words you would use to describe yourself? Others would say I’m friendly, courteous and knowledgeable. I would say I’m dedicated, loyal and enthusiastic.

Can you give us a glimpse into some of the future plans for The Denture Clinic? The Denture Clinic will be continuing to provide exceptional client service while constantly being open to new techniques and products. We attend regular educational seminars to keep current. Dental implants are becoming the norm for denture wearers, therefore we work very closely with many dentists and dental specialists to achieve the best treatment plan for each individual. Quality, workmanship and service is our top priority.
